INVADERCON 2011 ANNOUNCES ADDITIONAL GUESTS & NEW EVENTS

The tenth anniversary Invader ZIM convention, InvaderCON, welcomes voice actor Andy Berman and color director Jean-Paul Bondy

(Atlanta, GA, November 15, 2010) InvaderCON 2011 is a fan convention scheduled ten years, to the weekend, from when the popular cartoon series Invader ZIM premiered on cable television. Voice actors Richard Horvitz (Zim) and Rikki Simons (Gir) have committed to appear along with recently added Andy Berman (Dib). The series color director, Jean-Paul Bondy, has also agreed to appear at the convention taking place March 26-27, 2011 at the Atlanta Marriott Century Center in Atlanta, GA.

Andy Berman was the voice of Invader ZIM's classmate obsessed with exposing the truth behind the Irken alien: Dib. Andy has made a number of television appearances (including the classic series The Wonder Years) and he is currently a writer and producer on USA Network's extremely popular series Psych.

Jean-Paul Bondy was the Color Director for the Invader Zim series. He has also painted backgrounds for Avatar: The Last Airbender, Ni-Hao Kai-Lan, and a number of other shows. He is also an Art Director, photographer, runs a small record label, and is an adamant maker of strange electronic music. He is currently Art Director for Bronhollyhouse Studios where he works almost every day, or whenever he is bored with watching the internet.

InvaderCON is also offering a few premium level events including The Dinner of DOOM! (a celebrity dinner experience) and the I'm Makin' Waffles Breakfast (a themed morning meal hosted by InvaderCON's celebrity guests.)
